Not much more to add to this infographic other than: Hey, America, c'mon! We've got way more land than Italy and way more sun than Germany. Yet, sadly, we've got less solar than both.

With all due respect to the Germans and Italians -- actually, a hats off is in order :-)) -- there's no reason for America not to be the world solar leader. If only we could get our act together and muster the political will that would get us there.
